Tribute from David Douglas

Relation: Al was my first RCMP Detachment Commander

I am saddened to hear of the passing of Al. Al was my first detachment commander when I graduated from RCMP Depot Division in Regina and arrived in Whitemouth, Manitoba. Any member of the RCMP will attest to the fact that the first few years of your service is really important in setting a solid policing foundation that will carry you throughout your entire career. Al was a strong believer in empowerment and accountability when it came to how you approached your work.

In our time together at Whitemouth Detachment, he took the time and interest in coaching me in how to investigate everything and also how to write reports. Many times a typed report would be corrected and retyped until it was done correctly. He told me early on that he would teach me everything he knew from how to investigate to write a report to where to buy a cheap suit in Winnipeg. He did just that. On one occasion, he took me to Winnipeg and introduced me to two Winnipeg City Police detectives he knew, so that I could successfully complete an investigation. He really wanted me to succeed.

Al was very involved in community life in Whitemouth from playing and coaching hockey, playing baseball and soccer for the Whitemouth Frontiers and curling. He loved to compete. I can attest to Al's prowess at the poker table, especially black jack. He taught me how to play cribbage and I lost a lot of money for a while until I mastered the game.

Al was a legend in policing in Manitoba. My sincere sympathy to Greg, Alison, Doug, Scott and family..

I found Alans tribute while looking for his wife Joan They were a couple who's wants and loves, were always anticipated by each other. If there's a heavenly golf course, they have long found it by now. Although quite late, my heartfelt condolences, go out to their children Greg, Alison, Doug and Scott and their families.
