It is so hard to lose your mother. Every day you will think of things you want to tell her and you will continue to have insights about yourself as you think about your relationship with her. She mentioned you frequently in conversations .

Her light will shine on in the many memories, life lessons and and love she brought to you, Odette. Sending love and prayers.

Tribute from Carole MacFarlane

Relation: friend

Odette, I knew your mother thru Waterview Day Care centre and she helped my son Ethan getting settle in the school because of his learning disability. She even made a book Little Bear what do you see and I have it still. I am using it for our step grandson. I have been thinking of her alot but I did not know to get in touch with her. She loved so many kids but there is one that she really loved and that was you and how proud she was of you. I am so sorry for your. All my thoughts are going to you and your husband.
