Relation: family friend & and treetops graduate

Pam was a cornerstone of my early childhood. The community at treetops that she fostered was something that I'll always cherish. Daycare at Pam's is some of my earliest and fondest memories. I always looked forward playing video games with Paul and look back on those experiences fondly.

Relation: friend

Pam was a gift.

I met Pam at St. Andrews Anglican church while our children were still young. She radiated a quiet, self-assured confidence, which drew me to her. I entrusted my son to her at Tree Tops Daycare and never doubted my confidence in her. When I was working 10 to 12-hour days I would drop him off in the early hours, and the house was filled with the smells and warmth of breakfast. I never wanted to leave that cozy environment! It was quite common for my son to gleefully run down the driveway and in the door before me. He loved Pams Place. Pam was a treasure, and I look fondly back on those years and often see the imprint of Pam's Place on my son's character today.

I consider her a gift sent from God.
